

Lab 2

Objectives

The purpose of this lab is to help you become familiar with the development environment, to reinforce the concepts covered in chapter 2, and to reinforce the implementation of object oriented concepts in C++.

Exercise

Implement the statistician class. The class definition is given in stats.h. You will write all stats.cpp file, which will have the implementations of all the statistician's member functions. Use statexam.cpp to test the correctness of your statistician class.